ALUMNI APPOINTS STEERING COMMITTEE FOR NEW CHAPTER

Members of the St. Stanislaus Alumni Association from the Mississippi Coast area met Sunday afternoon at St. Stanislaus College in Bay St. Louis for the purpose of discussing the matter of forming a Gulf Coast Chapter of the Association.

It was pointed out that there are five hundred fifty graduates of St. Stanislaus now living in Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Gulfport, Biloxi, and Pascagoula. About the same number of graduates reside in the Greater New Orleans area. Another possible two hundred members are from the Latin American countries and other sections of Florida, Alabama, and Texas.

The advocates of the separate chapter plan feel that more interest would be taken in the activities of the Alumni Association by the members if local groups were worked together.

A Steering Committee has been appointed to make definite plans for the organization of the Gulf Coast group. Named to the Committee were: Eugene Monti, George Seuzeneau, Jr., Alvin Genin, Steve Wyatt, Robert Hubbard, Nelius Favre, Joseph Benvenuti, Norton Haas, Sr., and Warren Carver, all of Bay St. Louis; Arthur A. Seafide, Jr., and A. J. Caranna, Gulfport.

PICTURES OF LOCAL ARTIST BARTHE AVAILABLE

Richmond Barthe, native Bay St. Louis sculptor, painter, and author, has sent photographs of two of his works to serve as mementos for many of his local friends who requested them. The pictures were sent to Mrs. Katherine Wilson, librarian at City County Library, and the artist requested that he be reimbursed for the cost of the printing and mailing. The many people who expressed an interest in samples of Barthe's art work may obtain them at the Divine Word Seminary Gift Shop for fifteen cents.

Barthe selected two representative pieces for photographic representation. One is his soul-embodying sculpturing of St. Bernadette Soubirous. She was the young shepherd girl to whom the Blessed Virgin appeared in France at the end of the last century. Barthe's renowned sculpturing has managed to capture all the nuances of a mystic in the facial features of Bernadette. His second selection sent to Bay St. Louis is a copy of the painting of the resurrected Christ.

On August 11 of last year Richmond Barthe was honored at a reception attended by 200 guests from the city and area. On this occasion the guests had an opportunity to meet the internationally famous artist and hear him explain his works from photographs which were on display. Because so many people expressed the desire to have copies of his work that were on display, the artist had the photographs copied. At this reception Mayor John Seafide awarded the town's highest acclaim to Barthe in presenting him with a key to the city. The artist, in turn, presented a piece of sculpture to his home town which can be viewed at the City County Memorial Library.

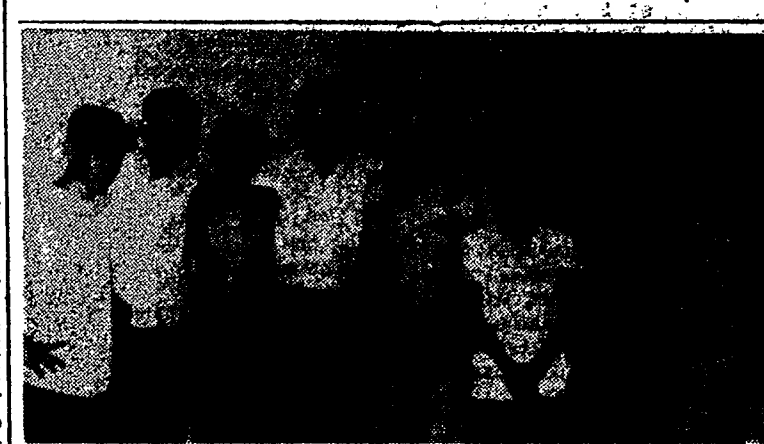

R. J. Reinke, sergeant at arms and Mrs. Daniel Egle and Mrs. Richard Ferguson, color bearers.

Named to the executive committee were Mesdames Gilbert Goyart, Teddo Thomas and John Rutherford Jr.

It was announced the American Legion and Auxiliary state convention will be held July 8, 9 and 10 at the Buena Vista Hotel, Biloxi.

Mrs. Craig was named to serve as sergeant-at-arms at the convention, and all members were urged to attend the business session. A number of social events have been planned.

Sluggish Attempts Hold-up

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said today the search for a young white man who slugged a Fenton grocery store owner-operator in the head Thursday continues.

Sheriff Ladner, who operates his store in Fenton, was treated at Hancock General Hospital for a head laceration which required six stitches.

The sheriff said Cuevas reported the young man entered the store about 4 p.m., selected a number of articles and put them on the counter.

While Cuevas was checking the merchandise, with his head down, he was suddenly struck in the head and knocked to the floor.

Cuevas stated he was dazed by the blow, but recovered and went out a back door to call for help the sheriff added.

His assailant ran to his parked car described by Cuevas as a 1961 or 1962 black Chevrolet Impala convertible, with black canvas top, bearing a Texas license tag and drove east on the Kiln-Fenton-Pass Christian road towards Pass Christian, the sheriff continued.

Cuevas described his assailant as 21 to 22 years of age, six feet six inches tall, about 170 pounds with dark hair. He was wearing a dark shirt and trousers and white tennis shoes.

Sheriff Ladner said the assailant, who had apparently intended to knock out Cuevas and rob the cash register, was frightened into fleeing when Cuevas recovered from the blow. The articles he had placed on the counter were left behind.

Sheriff Ladner was assisted in the investigation by Chief Deputy Eido Depreo and Deputy Chester Favre.

FINAL DECREES IN CHANCERY COURT

Chancellor William G. Hewes Tuesday handed down final decrees in the following Domestic Relations cases:

David D. Lottin, 37, Gulfport, employed as an ironworker in construction at the Mississippi Test Facility site, was accidentally electrocuted last Thursday afternoon. Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner said Lottin and Ralph Fleming, Bay St. Louis, were working together on the test control center building in the "Gulfport" complex when the accident occurred.

The sheriff stated Fleming told an inquest jury that the victim, who had mounted a ladder to use a portable grinder used for sanding welding seams, was leaning against a metal door frame when Fleming plugged in the electrical cord.

Fleming said he heard a noise, looked up and saw Lottin trembling, and pulled the plug. He lowered Lottin to the floor and called for help, the sheriff said.

Lottin regained consciousness briefly, then lapsed back into unconsciousness. The sheriff stated Fleming as a result of the accident was administered by an unidentified electrician, summoned from another building by the call for help.

Lottin was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital.

He was employed by Malon-Koppers Co. of New York which has the contract to construct the first position of the SAC test area. An inquest jury empaneled Riemann's Father, Whitfield Funeral Home by Beat J. Justice of the Peace Ladner, acting coroner, returned a verdict of death caused by accidental electrocution.

Deputy Sheriff Chester Favre served as bailiff and jurors were Sheriff Ladner, William G. Hewes, J. P. Romanoff, Jr., and Eido Depreo.

Mr. Lottin is survived by his widow, Mrs. Janie Bertha Glaze Lottin; three step-children, a daughter and a son of Gulfport, four brothers, three sisters and his step-father.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in Riemann's Funeral Home Chapel, Gulfport with the Rev. James A. Smith, pastor, Gulf Gardens Baptist Church officiating. Interment was in Evergreen Gardens.

NEW PUBLIC HEALTH REPRESENTATIVE FOR HANCOCK

Wallace J. Cameron has been named Public Health Representative in the Hancock County Health Department, according to Dr. J. A. Milne, Acting Health Officer for Hancock County. Cameron will be working for the summer months on the Mississippi Immunization Program and will be contacting parents of children under the age of five in Hancock County.

In a recent random household survey made by the Intensive Immunization Program, it was determined that 42 per cent of the children under the age of five in Mississippi were incompletely protected against polio, measles and diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. The survey also disclosed that there are approximately two thirds of the children under age of five unprotected against smallpox.

Cameron will be calling on the parent to unprotected children in the county and urging them to see their private physician or health department for the necessary immunizations.

Cameron has been working for the Hancock County Health Department since 1962. He is a graduate of the University of Mississippi and has a degree in public health.

It is no accident that men, the world over, have built clocks into the steeples of their churches:

Reduce life to its simplest components and what have you? TIME and GOD.

Time marks the beginning of life. It measures the growth of our bodies. It provides opportunity for our work and play. It reveals to us our human limitations. And then, one day, Time leaves us behind...

But God is the origin of life. He measures the growth of our souls. He provides our strength and forgives our weakness. He reveals to us His limitless Love. And, never desiring to leave us behind, God beckons us on — even beyond the circle of time.

A parable then: the clock in the steeple!

Man finds material security and temporal happiness as he learns to respect Time.

Man finds spiritual security and eternal happiness as he learns to love God!

PLEA FOR

The Employment Service office in the county has received more than 2,000 letters from parents of children in the county who are seeking summer jobs for their children. The office is now in the process of matching these children with jobs in the county.

An additional 50,000 summer jobs are being created in the county through the President's Youth Opportunity Campaign. Henry A. Birdsong, chairman of the U. S. Department of Labor's Regional Office, announced today.

During the first two weeks of the campaign, Mississippi employers wrote and telegraphed their summer job offers to officials of the program in Washington. In addition, many others contacted the local offices of the State Employment Service office for young job seekers.

Leading national organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion, the National Council of Churches, YMCA, National Urban League, PTA, National Council of Jewish Women, among others, have also pledged their support of the President's summer jobs for youth program.

Summer job offers by employers are continuing to mount according to State Employment Service officials. These jobs and pledges of support resulted from President Johnson's May 23rd urgent appeal to public and private organizations to develop work and training opportunities for the more than 2 million youth who will enter the labor force this month.

"Some of these two million will be looking only for temporary summer jobs," the President said. "But getting these jobs may be the difference between being able to go back to school or not going back." He also pointed out that "Almost a million of these young Americans will be trying to find their places in life, trying to become independent, self-sufficient."

In the first two weeks since the President's announcement, well over 250,000 jobs were made available by private and public employers.

Nationally, over 2,000 letters have been received by the U. S. Department of Commerce and other Departments participating in the Campaign offering more than 56,

SCHOOLS ARE OUT SO WATCH OUT FOR CHILDREN

"Schools are out, so please watch out for children," stated Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong as he reminded motorists that schools have closed for the season and every driver should be prepared to avoid running down the child who may materialize in front of his car at any time.

"More children in the 1 to 14 age group are killed in traffic mishaps each year throughout the Nation than from any known disease," Birdsong reminded. "Last year 62 children in this age group were killed and 645 injured by motorists in accidents on Mississippi's streets and highways."

Birdsong warned that drivers must always expect the unexpected where children are concerned, remembering that children are unpredictable and that the motorist must think for them in traffic.

"Drivers should be particularly alert near public parks and playgrounds — in fact, near any place where children may be expected to gather.

"All of us have a moral responsibility to keep children safe," Birdsong concluded, "and traffic is so potent a danger to youngsters that it will take all of us to do the job."

A thrifty youngster makes a more stable adult. Parents who encourage boys and girls to buy U. S. Savings Stamps start them early on the road to future security.

REPORTED IN HANCOCK COUNTY

Agricultural Conservation Program practices were carried out on 144 farms in Hancock County in 1964, according to Tommy R. Shaw, Chairman of the Hancock Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. These of America benefited in 1964 from acres of farmland.

The total number of farms participating in ACP throughout the country in 1964 was about 1.1 million.

Under the 1964 Agricultural Conservation Program, conservation measures on county farms represented a total investment of around $32,000.00. ACP cost-sharing amounted to about half this much, and farmers matched the public.

Investment from their own resources. With similar investments made through ACP and by farmers in most agricultural counties throughout the nation, the people of America benefited in 1965 from a half-billion dollars' worth of ACP conservation work.

Program practices completed on participating farms in the county included (list practices and extent. Be sure to mention any outstanding or unusual accomplishments.)

The ACP for 1965 — the 30th program year — is now well under way, and most farmers who intend carrying out needed conservation measures on their farms this year have already requested ACP cost-sharing to help expand soil, water, woodland, and wildlife conservation work. The chairman said that where a farmer plans such conservation measures as (list practices), the practice(s) should be in, stalled during the next few months.

NEW WEED CONTROL PRACTICE WILL AID SOYBEAN GROWERS

STATE COLLEGE, MISS. — Chemical weed control, which begins each spring with treatments to prevent weeds from emerging, has been extended to killing weeds three feet taller than the crop.

Latest development resulting from research in weed control is the use of 2, 4-D in wax bars to kill the coffee-weeds in soybean fields. The bars are mounted on a boom behind the tractor high enough to clear the top of the soybeans and yet strike the tall weeds. Rear mounting is necessary because if the bars were mounted on the front of the tractor the 2, 4-D might be rubbed from the weeds on to the tractor, which in turn could reapply the herbicide to the soybean plants.

Coffee-weed, properly named sesbania, creates a severe problem on thousands of acres of the Delta in Mississippi. This weed will emerge from 4 to 6 inches deep in dry weather and seed will persist in the soil for years. It reduces soybean yields 8 to 12 bushels per acre and complicates harvesting.

Because no late season control of this weed was known, the Delta Branch Experiment Station at Stoneville began to test the possibilities of using the wax bars in 1963. Heading the project was Dr. C. G. McWhorter, USDA plant physiologist at Delta Station. In two seasons' work he found that the herbicide could be applied in bars without damage to the crop.

"Research and farmer trials of 2, 4-D wax bars in the Delta of Mississippi have shown that this practice will control sesbania in soybeans economically and effectively," Dr. McWhorter said. "This practice will probably spread rapidly and may be adapted for control of other broadleaf weeds in soybeans."

Details on the use of the wax bar have been published by the Experiment Station and are being distributed to farmers throughout the state in time for use when soybeans and coffee-weeds reach the proper stage of growth this year.

NEW ORLEANS, La. — The first vertically assembled Saturn V moon rocket booster (SIC stage) towers over technicians (below) at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Michoud Operations here. Standing 138 feet tall, the 33-foot-diameter booster is the first of 10 Saturn V first stages to be built at Michoud by The Boeing Company Launch Systems Branch. This initial booster — designated SIC-D — is a ground-test stage, which will be mated with the second and third stages of the Saturn V space vehicle to determine the dynamic characteristics of the 364-foot-tall rocket. These tests will be conducted by Michoud's parent organization, the NASA Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala. ### SOYBEAN PLANTING

Don't hurry soybean planting. Wait until moisture is present before planting.

Studies at the Delta Branch Experiment Station showed that soybeans planted on June 10 produced 95 percent as many beans as those planted on May 10th. This was on clean fields where weeds were no problem.

POULTRY NOTES

Real hot weather can be critical in the poultry house. When the weather gets hot, birds eat less feed and drink more water. Egg production drops and feed conversion drops among broilers.

To help keep birds comfortable in the summer, give them plenty of room — three square feet per layer, and one square foot per broiler. These are minimums!

Make sure that the house has plenty of ventilation. Supply plenty of clean, cool, fresh water. Shallow litter also helps in keeping the house cool.

TEMPORARY GRAZING

A good seedbed is important if you expect good stands and fast growth from summer grazing crops.

These plants — millet, sudan or sorghum-sudan hybrids, must have plenty of fertilizer for fast growth. A good rate to use at planting time is 60 pounds each of nitrogen, phosphate and potash. Then after the plants are grazed down or cut for hay, topdress with an additional 40 to 60 pounds of nitrogen per acre.

If you are going to make hay from these crops, a hay conditioner is almost an absolute must!

MOWING SAFETY

Power lawn mowers cause 75,000 accidents in the nation each year. Nearly all could be prevented! Here are some tips for greater mowing safety and efficiency: Keep the mower clean and in good running condition. Pick up toys, stones, sticks, wire and bones before you start mowing. Keep the lawn clean.

Keep all other persons and pets away while you are mowing. On hill sides mow across, never up and down. Never leave the engine running while mower is unattended.

When starting engine, make sure your feet are safely out of reach of the blade. If using a self-propelled mower, adjust speed to your speed, never let the mower pull you.

Run only fast enough to get a good clean cut. Extremely high blade speeds are dangerous and cause excessive mower wear. If mower becomes clogged, stop engine and disconnect spark plug wire before unclogging blade. Store and handle gasoline safely. Never fill the tank while engine is hot.

If using an electric mower, do not cut when ground or grass is wet. You will be in danger if the cord is cut or if the mower has a short circuit.

CONTROL GRAZING

No pasture should be grazed longer than two weeks without a rest of at least a month. A mangel-worm is the best to graze. Grass roots are from the bottom control operation. If you do not afford a pasture for each grass, using an electric net to a pasture of being overgrazed.
